

EXPLORE LETCHWORTH STATE PARK AT YOUR OWN PACE

Join ISSS for a trip to Letchworth State Park, where you can walk on nature trails and witness the beautiful autumn leaves changing colors. The park is often called the “Grand Canyon of the East” because of its fantastic geography. It is truly something to see! Explore the park at your own pace. Come experience the natural beauty of western New York State. Hopefully, we will see leaves changing to spectacular shades of gold, orange and red!
