GLOBAL CINEMASPECTIVES FILM & DISCUSSION SERIES: “TERRAFERMA”
************************************************************************
Ernesto is an elderly fisherman who lives on the Sicilian island of Linosa. Political and economic unrest in North Africa has caused a growing number of people to flee their country in the hopes of settling in Europe. The Sicilian government has firmly warned sailors not to pick up Africans attempting to enter the country illegally by boat. When Ernesto sees a young man and his pregnant mother drowning after fleeing a small boat, his conscience forces him to rescue them, and he and his family become unwitting criminals as they give the immigrant family a place to stay.

Date: Friday, February 26
Time: 5:00-7:30
Place: Knox Hall 4

Prof. Laura Chiesa, Department of Romance Languages and Literatures, UB, will introduce the film and lead a discussion following the screening.
