KEYNOTE LECTURE

Global Sustainability: Interconnectedness, Resilience and the Path Forward

Wednesday, November 12 • 4:00 p.m.
Student Union Theater, North Campus

Roger-Mark De Souza
Director of Population, Environmental Security and Resilience, Wilson Center

Lisa Palmer
Public Policy Scholar, Wilson Center

How can we build our resilience to natural and human-made shocks and stresses by investing in youth, women and communities? And how can integrating concepts like women’s empowerment, reproductive health, community engagement and food security lead to better policy and actions that help us cope with adversity? This discussion will share stories of remarkable innovators who are crafting a sustainable path while on the front lines of environmental change, and discuss the surprising ways that the broader integration of sustainability practices and policies can open the door to resilience.

KEYNOTE FILM

“No Impact Man” (2009)
Moderated discussion to follow

Tuesday, November 11 • 6:30 p.m.
Capen Hall 107, North Campus

Follow the Manhattan-based Beavan family as they abandon their high consumption 5th Avenue lifestyle and try to live a year while making no net environmental impact.

STUDENT PRESENTATIONS

“Addressing Global Challenges through Student Research”

Monday, November 10 • 4:00-5:00 p.m.
Networking reception to follow
Capen Hall 107, North Campus

TOUR

“Sustainability Tour of UB’s LEED Certified Gold Building - Greiner Hall”

Don Erb, UB Sustainable Operations Integration

Tuesday, November 11
11:00 & 2:00 p.m.
Greiner Hall, North Campus

Meet in the 1st Floor Lobby of Greiner Hall near the Information Video Screen. Please call 645-5604 or e-mail khkern@buffalo.edu to sign up. Spaces are limited!

SPONSORS:
AT&T; Bank of America; Haylor, Freyer & Coon, Inc.; UB Alumni Relations; UB Asian Studies Program; UB Campus Living; UB English Language Institute; UB Intercultural & Diversity Center; UB Office of International Education; UB Study Abroad Programs; UB Sustainability; UB Undergraduate Academies; UB School of Public Health & Health Professions Office of Global Health Initiatives